THE CANADIAN ALLIANCE ON MENTAL ILLNESS AND MENTAL HEALTH ANNOUNCE 2023 CHAMPIONS OF MENTAL HEALTH

August 28, 2023 (Ottawa) — The Canadian Alliance on Mental Illness and Mental Health (CAMIMH) is proud to announce this year's Champions of Mental Health Awards. This annual advocacy campaign commends the outstanding efforts of seven remarkable Canadians who dedicated themselves to advancing mental and substance use health initiatives across the nation.

The honorees were nominated by their peers, colleagues, friends, and community members in recognition of their significant contributions to mental and substance use health advocacy at the local, provincial, and national levels. Their selection was conducted under the careful evaluation of the CAMIMH selection committee, which comprises of healthcare professionals and organizations representing individuals living with mental illnesses, their families, and caregivers.

“Mental health and mental health awareness have long been central to Canadians’ well-being,” said Florence Budden, Co-Chair of CAMIMH and Chair of the Champions Campaign. “Now more than ever, we have come to grasp the indispensable role it plays in our communities, individual health, and the country as a whole. This is precisely why, each year, we celebrate and honour the champions who have fervently advocated for mental health within their communities and far beyond.”

“We find ourselves truly inspired by the remarkable contributions of our 2023 Champions,” said Ellen Cohen, Co-Chair of CAMIMH. “Much like their predecessors, they stand at the forefront of mental health awareness, advocating for the advancement of programs, innovation solutions, and anti-stigma initiatives. Their dedication propels us toward a world where mental health is given the same earnest consideration and cohesive treatment as other health conditions.”

The Champions of Mental Health Campaign serves as CAMIMH's flagship program, acknowledging individuals from all corners of the country who, through their advocacy, groundbreaking solutions, and remarkable stories, reduce stigma and improve access to mental and substance use health resources and support across Canada.

This year's Champions will be recognized and celebrated at an event held at Parliament Hill. It is scheduled to take place on October 3rd, coinciding with the observance of Mental Illness Awareness Week (MIAW) – a time dedicated to raising awareness and understanding of mental and substance use health challenges in Canada.

CAMIMH extends its heartfelt gratitude to its generous partners: Bell Let's Talk (Silver Partner), Mental Health Commission of Canada (Silver Partner), Lundbeck (Bronze Partner), Canadian Credit Union Association (Bronze Partner), Innovative Medicines Canada (Bronze Partner) and AbbVie (Bronze Partner), whose support makes this campaign possible.
